REFLECTION

In today’s Gospel we are being told to listen to one another, because we never know when we may hear something that will help us.

The landowner, who is God, ends up sending his own Son to the vineyard, in a last attempt to get the workers to listen to him. The Son wants to help the workers do the right thing. How often in our world has someone come with a message of peace, love and justice, and yet those in authority are scared to listen.

I lose count of the amount of times I have been given good advice and have refused to listen. I can remember a friend of mine wanting to have a candlelight service in a Church. He had lots of candles around the Altar. His Parish Priest said that he didn’t think it was a good idea, but that he would let him go ahead. Some of the candles we positioned on a plastic table, so of course when they were all lit they began to melt the plastic table. His Parish Priest said “Blow them out!” but my friend did not heed his warning and carried on. They melted through the table and set the carpet on fire.

Jesus will always journey with us and we know in our heart of hearts if something is wrong. We know if someone is giving good advice, we just need to listen to it.

RESPONSES

ENTRANCE ANTIPHON: Within your will, O Lord, all things are established, and there is none that can resist your will. For you have made all things, the heaven and the earth, and all that is held within the circle of heaven; you are the Lord of all.

RESPONSORIAL PSALM: The vineyard of the Lord is the House of Israel.

GOSPEL ACCLAMATION: Alleluia, alleluia! I call you friends, says the Lord, because I have made known to you everything I have learnt from my Father. Alleluia!

COMMUNION ANTIPHON: The Lord is good to those who hope in him, to the soul that seeks him.

(Please leave the kneelers down)
