REFLECTION

Second Sunday of Lent (Year A)

In today’s Gospel we hear the account of the transfiguration of Jesus. I have to admit that when I first read today’s Gospel a few days ago I was somewhat surprised that the transfiguration is told to us in only the second week of Lent. Lent is a time of reflection, not only on the past, but on the present and the future. We must reflect on all three to make the most of Lent.

Many years ago, at about this time, I was preaching in a large hospital in North London, and for Lent they had constructed a tomb in front of the altar. Each week a different symbol was put in it for people to reflect on. The symbol they had for the second Sunday of Lent was a candle. A candle symbolises hope, light and joy. It also signifies a passage from one stage of life to another. Very often candles are put onto birthday cakes to signify the end of one year of life and the beginning of another. When used as a torch, a candle can guide us through darkness.

The term, “Don’t worry there is always light at the end of the tunnel” is often used if someone is going through a hard time. For some, the tunnel can seem to be very long and sometimes it doesn’t even seem to have an end, but of course, we all know that every tunnel comes to an end. At times such as these, our trust in the Lord and our belief that he has the ability to help us, is greatly tested. It is at these times though, that Christ becomes our light, our torch leading us through the tunnel, no matter what length it may be. He is truly our light leading us out of darkness.

The transfiguration gives us hope that at the end of our life on earth we too will have an eternal life with Christ in Heaven. Christ is truly our light. We should try and live our lives secure in the knowledge that Christ is always with us guiding us.

So this Lent let us use the symbol of the candle to remind us that our leader, Jesus is always prepared and willing to guide us.
