REFLECTION

Reflection for twelfth Sunday year A

In the Gospel today, Jesus instructs to go and proclaim the Good News from the “Roof Tops”. He reminds us that things now covered will become uncovered, light will overcome darkness. Many times in life, we believe there is nothing new for us to experience, we have seen it all before. Our hopes can be built up, only to come crashing down around us. In the next couple of weeks, Wimbledon tennis will be starting - for years my aunt would watch, waiting for a British winner. The year after she died, Andy Murray won! Typical! But at least he won.

Sometimes life can shock us and good things happen. Jesus wants us to preach a message of hope to our world. If we trust God then he will trust us with many things. As Christians, we must never lose hope. Sometimes things happen in our world and we ask the question why did God let this happen? Of course, we don’t have the answer, but as Christians we try to deal with it the best way we can and we must never lose hope. God loves us and trusts us, he works through us. When we see the response from so many people after the fire at Grenfell Tower we see people showing Gods love and care for each other.

God loves his people so let us proclaim this from the roof tops.
