REFLECTION

Thirteenth Sunday of ordinary time year A

In today’s Gospel, Jesus is instructing his disciples. He reminds us how they should treat one another and how others should treat them. I can remember going to a mechanics to get my car fixed many years ago. The mechanic was Sikh and so were many of those who worked in the garage. I left a cross in the car hanging from the mirror and as always in my glove compartment I had my prayer book. When I went to collect my car, it had been cleaned and looked like new, the work had been done and the owner of the garage was waiting for me. He greeted me and said “It is an honour to fix the car of a holy man!” He still charged me though!

The Gospels remind us to treat one another with respect and care. We are all Children of God, we have all been created in the image and likeness of God. Therefore, as a community we should always try and treat one another with respect. We will fail, many times, but we keep trying. Trying to succeed is important.
