REFLECTION

“Your peace will rest on that man.”

At present, in our country it feels like we have taken a leap into the unknown and indeed we have, no one knows quite what will happen when we leave the EU, but hopefully there are some people in Whitehall who will help to sort things out.

In today’s Gospel the disciples of Jesus are asked to trust in him when they go on their mission to spread the Good News. The seventy-two take a leap into the unknown because they have faith in Jesus. There are many times in life when we are asked to take a leap into the unknown and we know that God will be with us.

We have the same mission as the disciples, which are to spread the Good News and that takes courage. In life there are times when we need courage and it is at these times, that we need to trust in the Holy Spirit.
