REFELCTION – “You believe because you can see me. Happy are those who have not seen and yet believe.”

In today’s Gospel, Jesus appears to the disciples and confirms the Holy Spirit on them. Thomas is not present and refuses to believe what they tell him.

How often in life do we feel annoyed when we miss out on something? Many years ago, I use to go to football matches with a friend of mine, every Saturday we would stand on the terraces together and watch the match. One Saturday my friend was ill and I went by myself, it so happened that this particular Saturday our team won, five goals to one. When I saw him during the week I told him that he had missed a great game of football. He refused to believe me and said, “Just because they scored five goals doesn’t mean it was a great game!” I said, “You’re just jealous because you missed it!”

Many people will say that they find it hard to believe in a God that they cannot see. We live in a world where everything has to be proved. We can sometimes be annoyed with others when they say they do not believe, but always remember, that this is exactly what Thomas said and he was an Apostle!

We must always give thanks for the faith that we have and try to hand that faith onto others. We are blessed because we have not seen and yet believe! Let us never take our faith for granted.
